UNVEILING OF THE NAME OF THE COOPERATIVE FOR PROFESSIONAL MUSICIANS

In a previous issue of the Entracte journal, we informed you about an initiative of the Guilde des musiciens et musiciennes du Québec : the founding of a cooperative based on solidarity that aims to promote and facilitate the hiring of live professional musicians for a quality performance at a reasonable price will provides musicians with decent working conditions and a social safety net, either for private (weddings, party, funeral,...) or corporate (gala, convention, party,...) events.

We are now pleased to unveil the name and logo of this cooperative: lagamme.mu Montreal advertising agency Orange Tango created name, logo and temporary website for lagamme.mu

We invite you to fill the form on the website to be kept informed on the recruitment campaign for its members. Visit the new website of lagamme.mu

MUSICIANS ON TELEVISION : UPDATE ON THE SITUATION OF "EN MODE SALVAIL" - V TÉLÉ

In 2013, the Guilde requested the contracts as well as related work dues and contributions for the Pension Fund to the production company Salvail & Co for its TV show "En mode Salvail". V Télé should have ensured that the production company Salvail & Co complied with the agreement applicable to hire professional musicians, which has not been done. Therefore: no contract was sent to the Guilde, musicians are paid for less than what the agreement mentions, no contribution was made to the musicians Pension Fund, etc. The Guilde filed a grievance to V Télé in October 2013.

What makes this case complex is that, on one hand, Salvail & Co, member of the APQM*, maintains that it is not bound to any collective agreement applicable. On the other hand, V Télé argues that it was late TQS and not V Télé which has to ensure compliance with the applicable collective agreement.

Although a meeting was held between the Guilde and V Télé in 2014 to try to resolve the dispute, the broadcaster hasn't shown since any willingness to continue discussions in order to reach an agreement. In August 2014, the Guilde has therefore sent V Télé a notice to refer the grievance to an arbitrator.

Note that the TV show "En mode Salvail" will be back on the air for a second season. The Guilde strongly recommends that its members don't work on this show as it doesn't respect the conditions set out in the applicable agreement.
